Hi Christie,

Thanks for getting back to me. I'd love to do an interview preferably tomorrow if possible I with someone here in DC.

We want to know some ways that companies and the EPA are held accountable in situations like the one in Colorado. Repercussions? Moves to prevent this in the future? Incentives to make certain it won't happen again?

It won't be entirely Colorado focused, it is more on protecting US waterways moving forward, but naturally the Animas Spill is the news hook.

Please let me know when someone might have a few minutes for me!

Thanks,
Peter

Hi Peter,

Thanks so much for your patience; our on-scene coordinators have been doing press availabilities here in Durango, but beyond that haven't had the bandwidth to do one-offs with individual outlets.

Let me know a little more specifics about what you're looking for – on camera in Durango or DC? Specific questions you want to cover? – And we'll see what we can set up.

Thanks,

Christie
